ZoufLeBouf — Soufiane Kasri — is an Afro-electronic DJ from Rotterdam known for high-energy sets that blend Amapiano, Afro house and world music with distinctive Arab influences. His sound is a vibrant journey through rhythm, culture and connection, rooted in the global club scene.

He started out crafting his own edits and reworking Arab classics into Amapiano and club-ready tracks, and quickly developed a unique musical identity. His sets are known for their groove, warmth and unpredictability, moving effortlessly between genres while building an infectious energy on the dancefloor.

Alongside his work as a DJ, Zouf is the driving force behind Habibis World — "a place you can call home, away from home". Habibis World is a cultural platform and gathering place where the North African and Arab diaspora come together, from intimate club nights at Mono Rotterdam to collaborations with events like Nawafiz Festival. It is through that platform that his mission comes to life: creating a space where music, culture and community meet, giving the richness of Arab and North African sound a stage within the international club scene.

What sets him apart is not only his musical versatility, but also his enthusiasm and the easy flexibility with which he works alongside other promoters and organisers — always ready to think along, adapt, and get the best out of a line-up or a night.

He remains focused on authenticity and cultural fusion, creating spaces where different worlds collide through music. His sound is not just played, it is experienced — from intimate club nights to forward-thinking festival stages.
